Record Breaking Crowd Attends Fair Thursday

Paid Admissions Estimated at 21,000 as Interurban Day Brings
Visitors from Many Points—Today Is South Bend
Day—Automobile Parade Is Planned.

With a paid admission attendance estimated at 21,000 yesterday was far the largest Thursday crowd ever assembled at Springbrook park for a St. Joseph county fair. According to St. Joseph, George Y. Hepler, more than 13,000 persons passed through the turnstiles up to 6 o'clock and he assumed the evening crowd would total fully 8,000 more.

Today is South Bend day and another large crowd is anticipated. The Midway, the Wollen Mills band will entertain the visitors throughout the day. A parade of all the automobiles on exhibition at the fair will pass through the downtown district of the city at noon today. The procession returning to the fair grounds at 1:30 p. m.

Yesterday was interurban day and almost every kind of conveyance was used to bring the thousands of out-of-town visitors to the grounds. For many blocks in every direction automobiles were parked on lawns and residents in the neighborhood of the park reaped a golden harvest by using their grounds for parking space at 25 cents a car.

Practically the entire oval of the race track was filled with automobiles and almost every inch of available parking space at other places in the fair grounds was taken.

By 1 o'clock the entire grandstand was filled and the hillside to the north and south of the stands were crowded to capacity. The review of the dairy and beef cattle was so well received the fair management decided to repeat the parade today at 1 o'clock. It was a beautiful sight to see the large herds of blooded stock as they were lead down the track, each herd having for its leader the senior sire.

Parade of Stock.—The Aberdeen-Angus animals, black as night and their coats shining in the sun, followed by the Galloway, also black, but of a more shaggy type and consequently not so sleek looking. Hereford followed, their red coats and handsome white heads contrasting with the black Angus types. Holsteins came next with their creamy white skins and black markings; then the fawn-colored Jerseys and the White and yellow Guernseys.

The trotters and pacers furnished some of the hardest fought racing seen here this season yesterday. The first heat of the 2122 trot was run with a boiling hot sun, but when the 2:15 racing event started, the sun hid its face behind threatening clouds.

View Many Exhibits. Meanwhile thousands of persons who could not get seats in the stands craned about the grounds, viewing the various exhibits, and waited for the six fascinating manikins to demonstrate the latest thing in women's wear at Wyman's style show.

Promptly at 4 o'clock a large touring car drove on to the track and drew up behind the starting box. Six daintily dressed models stepped from the various boxes in the stand and entered the car. Their turn to entertain had arrived. A crowded house greeted them as they showed a variety of new creations in fall and winter garments for women.

Rain Interference. At the conclusion of their "act" the elements put on a display that is never welcome at any fair. Following a sharp clap of thunder the rain began falling in torrents. Thousands of persons just about to leave the grounds for home suddenly changed their minds and hastily sought shelter under tents, and in the display buildings. For a while it appeared as though the evening festivities would be spoiled, but in less than a half hour the clouds had cleared away and the sun was again shining.

No damage was done by the wind and rain with the exception of covering the exhibition grounds with a sea of water. This did not appear to bother the night crowd which splashed about in the puddles evidently enjoying it.

Auto polo was played as usual at the night entertainment at the race track. Though the cars cut deeply into the soft clay, the management was of the opinion that the track can quickly be put into condition for Friday's racing card. Whether or not this can be done successfully was a question in the minds of several of the spectators.

Twenty-three boy scouts on a sight seeing tour from the fair association headquarters at the fairgrounds today at 1 o'clock. They arrived about 8 o'clock and were admitted free to all parts of the grounds.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(By I. N. S.)—Polar exploration will soon be revolutionized by the use of airplanes and aeroplanes, according to predictions made by Major R. Carr, air expert who accompanied Shackleton on his South Polar expedition.

"Very few people realize how mild the Arctic and Antarctic regions really are," Major Carr says. "The airship of today is capable of doing a trip to the North Pole, and back from London, a distance of approximately 14,000 miles, within a week. Fuel for the whole distance could be carried, and no landings need be made. This proves that before long we shall have Arctic and Antarctic exploration without the years of work and hardship."

MAN IS HELD ON BAD CHECK CHARGE

St. Louisan Is Alleged to Have Posed as Agent of Studebaker Corp.

Harry Moran, 24 years old, who gave his address to the police as St. Louis, Mo., was arrested yesterday afternoon by Motorcycle Officer Pour on a charge of passing a fraudulent check. The arrest was made at the Northern Indiana interurban station after Moran had cashed a check for $15 at the I. W. Lower decorating store.

A short time before his arrest Moran attempted to purchase a washing machine at the Blue Bird shop on N. Main st. He posed to E. L. Burke, proprietor, as Harry Moran, assistant purchasing agent for the Studebaker corporation and asked to have a $15 check cashed.

Burke, however, was suspicious of him and declined to cash the check. He had his son follow Moran, who expressed the intention of having the check cashed elsewhere, and in the meantime notified the police.

The son followed him to the I. W. Lower store where Officer Pour joined him. Moran purchased about $5 worth of paint and had his check cashed. Officer Pour followed Moran to the interurban station and after questioning him placed him under arrest. Moran is said to have admitted the guilt to Pour.

He is held while an investigation is being conducted by the police to discover whether or not other merchants had been the victims of his operations.

The heart of the common oak, it is said, begins to rot at the age of 300 years, so even when an oak is undisturbed it rarely lives much beyond 500 years. A larch may live 275 years, a silver birch 125, and a pine over 500 years. The larch has a remarkable power of resisting tree ravages, and may survive for 1000 years or more.

YOUNG GIRL TELLS STORY OF UNDOING TO CHICAGO JUDGE

Motherless Delinquent Formerly Attended Local Business College.

The sordid story of how a 16-year-old girl, unacquainted with the ways of the world and thrown on her own resources through the death of her mother, was forced to yield to the desires of a man old enough to be her father, and pose in the nude for him, was related in the Chicago court of domestic relations yesterday before Judge George W. Morgan, by Marjory Morgan, of Lowell, Ind., a former student of a South Bend business college.

The motherless girl yesterday afternoon sat in Judge Morgan's court and with tears streaming from her eyes told the story of her life from the time of her mother's death until her undoing, a week ago—a story of youthful innocence and confidence, besmirched and defiled by an employer whose help she sought.

Enter Business College. Following the death of her mother, the girl found herself with little money with which to face the world. Realizing that she would now have to make her own living, the small, bobbed-haired girl, came to South Bend, where she entered a local business college.

Finishing her studies in this city, Marjory went to Chicago to make her way.

The advertising columns of one of the papers of that city formed the employment brokerage for the girl. An ad caught her eye, asking the services of a girl to sell subscriptions for a magazine.

Answers Advertisement. She answered this ad, entered the employ of one Melvin Levy, president of the Associated Printers, 179 West Washington st., Chicago. Levy explained his proposition to her in glowing phrases, but in addition, he offered a suggestion.

"He told me he had a friend who photographed girls in the nude," the girl told Judge Morgan. "You seem to have the right shape. Would you like to try it? It will pay you well, and it isn't hard work," she said Levy told her.

She told him she'd think it over. That same night she returned to the office where she found Levy alone. Levy demanded that she disrobe. She did. Then Levy criminally attacked her, she said.

Photographed 22 Times. He bought her supper that night, and on the following Monday took her to the home of J. E. Pieser, on South Michigan av.

At the Pieser home, the girl said, she disrobed again, and while in the nude was photographed 22 times. The photographs were produced in court yesterday by Policewomen Johnson and Walsh, who had arrested the two men.

The pictures were the cause of strenuous argument in court when attorneys debated the "art" merits of the pictures. Judge Morgan declined to act as a critic in the matter and continued the case until Sept. 7.

Following the hearing, which was made in the presence of relatives of the girl, Marjory Morgan was turned over to the custody of the juvenile authorities.

U. S. TEACHERS TO GET FRENCH TIPS

Professor Meras, Columbia University, Plans to Aid Supervisors.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Most French teachers in American schools know outrageously little about French life and customs and speak French with an accent that couldn't be understood in Paris, according to Prof. Albert A. Meras, department of modern languages, Columbia university.

Wherefore, Prof. Meras is making arrangements with the Sorbonne so that a certain number of students from Teachers' College, Columbia, who are specializing in the teaching of French, may take a part of their course at the French university.

Next Summer Prof. Meras has announced the first group of students will be sent over as a trial of the method. A Columbia professor will accompany the group, who will be candidates for a master's degree.

FIND THE WOMAN OR GO TO JAIL!

Ex-Serviceman Says Hug, Kiss, $1,000 Reward for Saving Maiden.

CHICAGO, Aug. 24.—A hearty kiss, surreptitious hug, $1,000 in small bills, the result of a beautiful young lady dressed in a one-piece bathing suit. As she went down for the third time I jumped in and rescued her.

She did not reveal her name, continues Hoffman, but asked him to meet her at the Edgewater Beach hotel, where she would reward him. This she did, giving him $1,000, the kiss and the hug.

Now as the French say: Find the woman.

JELLISON DROPS CHARGES; POLICE HOLD 'EVIDENCE'

Liquor Taken at Horvath Bakery Shown as Woman Evades Jail Term.

A suspended 90-day jail sentence, withheld for revocation by City Judge DuComb, was saved Mrs. Magdalene Horvath, 1530 Miami st., Thursday when Pres. Floyd O. Jellison interjected himself into the case and ordered charges of unlawful possession against her dismissed.

Mrs. Horvath was a "second time" offender. On July 5, police visited the Miami place, a bakery operated by the woman, and seized a quart of illicit liquor. Taking the case under advisement, the court intimated he would revoke the jail sentence, suspended against her on a previous conviction.

The case has "died" along since July 5. Final judgment postponed by several continuances. Thursday the city jurist was not sitting, out of the city, it was said, and Justice of Peace Al Hostinski had been appointed to take charge of the court during his absence.

Two "drunk" had been disposed of, also a "no license" offender or two. Then came the case of the Horvath woman.

"The case of Magdalene Horvath," announced Dep. Pres. Donahue. Dismiss this on motion of the state.

The arresting officers were not present. They had not been called into the court room to state their story. It was not the office of the jurist to demand a further showing.

Mr. Hostinski inquired as to the nature of the offense.

"From my understanding," answered Donahue, by way of explaining the circumstances, "the officers found a bottle of liquor which after investigation by Mr. Jellison was shown to have been part of the same evidence which caused Mrs. Horvath's previous arrest."

"If Mr. Jellison has made an investigation," said the jurist sitting, "it is not for me to go further than that."

But it is not always that police officers and the prosecutor can agree. This was one time that they are at loggerheads.

Inquiry was made of Detective Sgt. Val Hostinski, who led the detail of arresting officers on both occasions when the Miami establishment was raided. "Your Horvath case has been dismissed," he was told, and the reason given by the deputy prosecutor re-told.

Belinski obtained the bottle containing colored "moonshine" whiskey, which, according to the label, was shown to have been removed from the Horvath premises July 5. In it were a few cherries, preserved from all appearances by the strength of the alcohol. It smelled strongly of "moonshine" whiskey. The taste was similar to cherry cognac.

"Cherries were not ripe when we seized a 10-gallon still, 12 gallons of mash and seven gallons of 'moonshine' liquor on May 25," said Belinski.

Dean of High School Boys To Take Post at Cleveland

W. C. Westphal, who for the last year has been dean of boys at the local high school, will resign his position here to accept one as assistant recreation director of the Cleveland, O. schools. Mr. Westphal has been identified with the local schools for the past two years having come here as a vocational teacher. Last year, however, he was appointed dean of boys at the high school.

Miss Esther Montgomery, teacher of physics at the high school has been granted a one semester leave of absence by the board of school trustees.

Music and Mirth Share Honors On Orpheum's Bill

Bernivici Brothers and Duval and Symonds Are Headline Entertainers.

Headline honors are shared by the Bernivici Brothers and company, with their "Moments Musical" and Duval and Symonds in "Their First Quarrel" in the bill opening at the Orpheum theater Thursday. Both companies furnish high class entertainment.

The Bernivici brothers are violinists, and in their moments on the stage fiddle everything from the classical to the latest jazz hits. Their efforts at vocal expression, however, bring Duval and Symonds to the stage in protest, a clever clue that is well received. The "and company" of the Bernivici brothers has a pleasing tenor voice which he demonstrates to the approval of the audience. An effective setting is achieved for the more serious portion of their offering.

"Their First Quarrel" is all that the title suggests. It is realistic and funny, causing the newbies and about-to-be-weds to wonder "if we'll ever be like that," and the "old folks" to reminisce smilingly.

The Seabooks who present "Fun in a Gymnasium," the "Four Erotics" in a juvenile and the newbies and about-to-be-weds to wonder "if we'll ever be like that," and the "old folks" to reminisce smilingly.

"Mary Lou" tells the story of a girl waiting for her brother to return from France and mingles pathos with comedy. Gifford and Morton talk, dance and sing to the satisfaction of all concerned.

Three Are Charged with Violating Motor Ordinance

Three motor ordinance violators were arrested Thursday afternoon and evening. Dr. E. R. Borley was taken into custody for having parked his machine in a restricted section on Main st. in front of the J. M. S. building. His arrest was made early Thursday evening. He was released on his own recognizance for his appearance in court this morning.

Alex Albright, Three Oaks, Mich., was arrested in the afternoon for violating his car without a license. Walter Petty, 623 E. Jefferson blvd., the third man, was arrested for driving his machine without a card and container. Albright and Petty were released after furnishing a $25 bond each for their appearance in court today.

Jackson, Mich., Boy Scouts Stop Here on Motor Hike

Forty boy scouts from Jackson, Mich., arrived in the city early last night on their way to Camp Roosevelt, Laporte, Ind. The boys were the guests of South Bend scouts over night at their reservation four miles from the city.

The cars bearing the Jackson scouts carried banners to the effect that "The World Takes What Jackson Makes" and this is "A 500-Mile Motorized Hike of Jackson Boy Scouts."

Two men enlisted in the marine corps yesterday and were sent to Chicago for final examination before leaving for the recruit camp at Parris Island, S. C. The recruits were John W. Whitaker and Floyd Harmon, both of whom gave as their address 1019 S. 15th st.

New Police Boat Here Following Strenuous Day

Members of Local Force Bring Motor Craft Here from Michigan City.

Capt. Hamilton with other members of the local police department successfully completed a day's reprieve with strenuous labor when they returned to this city last evening from Michigan City in the police Cadillac car with the new police motor boat in tow on a trailer. The boat is to be used for dragging purposes in the St. Joseph river.

It has weathered a four days' trip on Lake Michigan. Sgt. Bert Olmstead having piloted the boat from the manufacturer's docks at Manitowish, Wis., along the shores of the lake to Michigan City.

Yesterday when the police started to take the boat from the lake and put onto the trailer they experienced considerable difficulty in lifting it. Life guards at the beach joined in the work. It was finally necessary to push the boat out into the water and then lift the boat on to the trailer. Fifteen men were required to accomplish this task.

After the boat had been placed on the trailer, another job loomed before the officers, that of bringing the trailer was out of the sand and the chains and plenty of "elbow grease" the job was completed. One trailer was out of the sand and the Cadillac had no difficulty in towing the boat and trailer to this city.

The boat was taken to the station where it will be given another coat of paint and enamel before it is placed in the river. The craft is about 15 feet long and capable of doing about 15 miles an hour. It has a four-cylinder motor, an automobile steering wheel, guide and is equipped with life saving belts.

Local Legion Post Is Asked to Give Aid in Identifying Lost Buddy

South Bend Post No. 50 of the American legion has been asked by national headquarters of the organization to assist in identifying a lost buddy. He is "lost" in the "port of missing men" and needs care in a hospital.

Remembering only that he is part Indian, that he was hurt and half buried by a shell explosion in the front trenches in France, that his brother or half-brother was killed, a World War veteran with a partly paralyzed brain was saved from self destruction near Pawnee, Okla., one year ago this August.

Since that time efforts have been made in vain to have his identity established by the government. The case has now been referred to the American Legion to assist in proving his claim and have him placed in a government hospital. When found, the man weighed 87-1-2 pounds, was half starved and without sufficient clothing, even for August. He said he could not work and no one would feed him. He could not remember his name but thought it was either Arthur Green Littlejohn, Arthur I. Green or Arthur Lopez. He said his relative's name was Ray L. Green.

Ray L. Green, described as "private, machine gun company, 308th infantry" was killed in France, October 2, 1918. In the statement of $10,000 for the death of Ray L. Green, which had been going to a Simla, Ill. man, supposed to be a grandfather, has been stopped by the war department pending identification of the body.

Several persons have advanced the opinion that the bones are the remains of a brave killed at the battle of Tippecanoe, as history states that all the warriors who fell during that battle were taken away by their comrades and buried at points distant from the scene. However, this theory is not given general credence as the remains of several children were included in the lot. The most plausible story is that all were victims of kind of a plague which swept the Indian village believed to have been situated on the land now comprising the Quick farm, and that all who died of the disease were buried at one time.

The burial place was on the side of a bluff overlooking Wild Cat Creek, so situated that at all hours of the day, the sun shown on the graves. The skeletons were all lying with the heads toward the north, the adults in one pile and the children about 500 yards apart. Several containing excellent sets of teeth were brought to this city. The remainder of the bones will be reburied.

300 TELEPHONES OUT OF ORDER AS RESULT OF STORM

Rush Hour Crowds Receive Drenching—More Wet Weather Predicted.

The threat of rain which has been hovering over the city for several days became a reality last evening and provided some relief from the intense heat and humidity of the past 48 hours. The suddenness of the electrical shower and the heavy rain which fell served to cause much discomfort as well as considerable damage throughout the city.

The most serious effect of the storm reported in the city was the temporary disabling of 300 telephones operated through the local exchange. The company expects to have service up these telephones restored within a short time. A number of wires belonging to the telephone and telegraph companies were also reported to be damaged to some extent.

More Showers Predicted. More weather of the sort inaugurated by last evening's downpour is in sight for today, the forecast for both Indiana and lower Michigan indicating probable showers for Friday.

Hundreds of persons who had come downtown totally unprepared were caught in the rain. At the time of the usual rush hour—between 5 and 6 o'clock—thousands of workers just getting ready to go to work were literally marooned in doorways and other places affording shelter. As soon as the storm exhibited signs of letting up, there was a mad rush for home and supper.

At Springbrook park the storm caused hundreds of visitors to the fair, to break suddenly for shelter beneath the exhibition building. At the first let-up in the rain many sought cars for home, but the more venturesome started out again when they had missed because of the deluge.

Barn Destroyed. A barn located about six miles southeast of Mishawaka, on a farm occupied by John Oakley, was struck by lightning about 7 o'clock last night and the fire that resulted completely destroyed it. Two farm hands who were in the structure at the time, were knocked to the ground, but were not seriously injured.

Several horses were saved in spite of the fact that the barn was entirely ablaze. Two hundred bales of hay and a large quantity of grain were destroyed. The loss is not definitely known, though it was estimated at $10,000. The fire finished only three years ago.

STEINER TELLS OF ACTIVITIES HERE

Yeggman Responsible for Safe Jobs in Two Local Oil Offices.

Last November's safe blowing jobs against the Indiana Petroleum company's offices and those of the Sinclair Oil Refining Co. have been definitely charged to Albert Steiner, whose career of crime was abruptly ended in Muskegon, Mich., Saturday when he was arrested as he was about to leave the safe of Standard Oil Co.'s office there.

Further information has been received by Chief of Police Lane regarding Steiner's alleged activities in this city. Upon his arrest he confessed to having blown the safe of a score of safe robberies in the past year, most of which were in northern Indiana. Three jobs were done at Goshen, two in Michigan City. He mentioned doing one in South Bend, and two others in Niles, Mich.

Steiner's latest statement made with reference to his local activity names two robberies here, that of the Indiana Petroleum on Circle av., and the Sinclair offices at Broadway and Franklin sts. Against both he used charges of ultra-styrene.

"In answer to your letter requesting information on Steiner," reads the letter from Peter Hansen, chief of police, Muskegon, Mich., "Steiner in a written confession says he worked in the job of safe blowing."
